About Unifor

Unifor was founded Labour Day weekend 2013 when the Canadian Auto Workers and the Communications, Energy and Paperworkers unions merged. With more than 310,000 members, Unifor is Canada's largest union in the private sector.

Unifor represents nearly 2,000 armoured car employees in Ontario and British Columbia, of which approximately three-quarters are employees of Brink's, and one-quarter employees of GardaWorld. Unifor also represents employees at a smaller, independent firm.
